

Challenge 1: Start a food-sharing table in your cafeteria (1 credit)

Food sharing tables are tables designated for any unwanted food or beverages, allowing other students second-helpings at no additional cost. While this is a wonderful way to prevent food waste from going to the landfill, there are a few rules and best practices, created by the Indiana Departments of Health and Education, that you should follow. You'll have to work with administrators and your cafeteria staff to set up rules and standard operating procedures for the food-sharing table. To receive credit for this challenge, your semester report will have to include:
